Library Services

Nova Scotia Health Library Services provides staff and physicians with education and supports to effectively discover and use health information.

We can help you stay current by keeping you aware of new and relevant resources, and by teaching you efficient and practical information skills that meet your evolving needs.

Make Library Services a part of your team

Library Services supports patient care and staff development. Library sites serve as research hubs throughout Nova Scotia Health and provide access to computers, wireless Internet, photocopying, document scanning, quiet study areas, and meeting spaces.

Library staff are available at locations across the province to help you with your information needs. Search our online directory to find out more about the location and staff member closest to you:

Access from anywhere

Nova Scotia Health staff and physicians can access our online resources with Active Directory credentials 24/7 from work, home, or on the go. Active Directory credentials are the same username/password used to log in to a work computer or access your work email. Visit our website to learn more:
